Seed and Fertilzer Are Major Items, Says FSA Supervisor

In discussing the Farm Security Administration program, Smith Black, Warren county FSA supervisor, said that the administration considers use of good seed and fertilizer a major item in sound farm and home operation.

"That idea is borne out by many families when they apply to the FSA for assistance," he said. "Often these families say they would have been able to do a better job of farming in previous years if they could have obtained credit for the purchase of fertilizer and good seed."

"Our job is to help farm families to work their way to self-dependence, a good living, and permanent security."

He explained that Farm Security Administration loans are available not only for the purchase of seed, but for livestock, machinery, equipment, feed, and household furnishings. The loans may be made from two to five years with interest at five percent a year on the unpaid balance.

Housing Plans For Workers At Weldon Spring TNT Plant

Construction with Federal funds of 200 housing units for families of workers at the TNT plant at Weldon Spring was approved this week by President Roosevelt.

According to the plan as announced, 120 of the units are to be constructed along Highway 94 between St. Charles and Weldon Spring; 30 between Cottleville and Wentzville, and 30 between Cottleville and O'Fallon. Rents will range from $20 to $40 a month at the St. Charles and O'Fallon areas and $40 to $50 at Cottleville. The houses will be rented to families with incomes of $1500 to $2500 a year.

At the office of the State director of FSA at Columbia it was said that the Government would grant loans to the Missouri Defense Relocating Association, a non-profit organization set up last April which would buy the land and let contracts for the construction of the housing units.

Don't Attempt To 'Rescue' Young Birds Or Animals

Victims of misguided kindness at this time each year are many young animals and birds. Well-meaning persons, finding them alone and to all appearances, abandoned, obey a natural impulse to "rescue" them.

While their intentions are of the best, such people are not only doing the animals an injustice, but they are hindering wildlife preservation, the Protection Division of the Conservation Commission points out.

In 99 cases out of a hundred, the young animals and birds are not lost. The parents are usually near and probably watching the kidnapping of their offspring. If the seemingly abandoned infant is left alone, the mother will return and take much better care of it than could any human.

Mrs. Emma Baumhoefer of Tebbetts visited with Mrs. Avena Dothage Wednesday.

MODERNS LIKE PRUNES

BE up-to-date! If you belong to that generation which didn't like prunes—don't admit it. It labels you as a person who belongs to that by-gone era when in plays, in stories and in life cheap boarding houses always served badly cooked prunes. It was part of the scenery which went with the act—a bowl of under-cooked prunes.

Today people like prunes. And the reason is that canned fresh prunes bear no resemblance to the hard shriveled fruit of other times. They are bright plum-colored, juicy delectable fruits canned in a rich good syrupy juice.

For Delicious Desserts

Fresh Prune Soufflé: Beat four egg whites stiff and fold in four tablespoons sugar. Drain the fruit from one No. 3 can of fresh prunes, remove the stones and cut the pulp fine. Fold the pulp into the egg whites (reserving the prune syrup for beverages, sauces, etc.). Add one-half teaspoon almond extract, and pour into a buttered baking dish. Bake in a 350 degree oven for twenty minutes, or until it is firm and a delicate brown. Serve at once with a yellow custard sauce poured over it. This serves eight persons.

Scandinavian Prune Pudding: Remove the stones from the fruit in one No. 3 can of fresh prunes, cut the prunes in pieces and return to the syrup. Add one-third cup sugar, one-fourth teaspoon clove, and one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon. Mix one-third cup cornstarch with one-half cup orange juice. Add to the hot mixture, and cook in a double boiler, stirring constantly until the mixture is thick and smooth. Cool slightly, add one-half cup chopped nuts and fold in two stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour into wet molds and chill. Serve with whipped cream. This serves eight persons.
